Now we are very excited to announce that we are going to offer our new online course for the popular now topic of "Neuroscience of Emotional Intelligence for Physicians" (NEQ for MDs)

These live programs are virtual, highly interactive, and feature small group work for a high-touch learning experience. We designed the curriculum with the a mix of science and practical tools that you can use in every day to have a better control and balance in your life and also be a superior leader, team player, parent and a spouse. I attached the curriculum to the email.

Starting October 24, 2020 we offer 4 weeks, once a week 90-minute webinars (on Sat mornings), including the optional exclusive community forum to share and interact with peers and coaches.

Now you can harness the burgeoning neuroscience of emotional intelligence to give you an entire toolbox that will help you:

- Prevent burn out
- Maintain balance
- Master your emotions
- Increase control
- Become the leader you want to be

Registration is open now https://invivox.com/training/detail/INMI81862

OFFER: As my student and because you helped me with ideas, I am offering you a special deal at a reduced price of $99 for the whole course. ($299 the original price, $199 early bird before 10/9/20)

Seats are limited, so please sign up soon (before 10/09)

I personally would love to see you on our course.

PS. If you get two of your friends signed up at the offered price-you join us free***

Email me directly if you have questions or concerns or have referrals so we adjust the fees.

The testimonials of the students from the first course:
https://youtu.be/EauU0DriYUo

https://youtu.be/OIQrBdlm1x4